

Below is our statement for the online component of the story:

"The safety of our patients is a top priority at Kroger pharmacies. We respect and appreciate the fact that our customers rely on the professional counsel our pharmacists provide. Our pharmacy professionals take their role as a primary source of drug information for our customers seriously and we as a company continue to provide ongoing training to provide the best service possible."

You can attribute it to the The Kroger Co. Please let me know if you have any questions.
