Ms. Katz:

Hope you are doing well. I have tried to contact you several times over the last two days. I attempted to reach you via phone twice today, including just now and earlier today. When I called your assistant earlier today, she directed me to the voicemail of your law partner. I left a voicemail with her. She has not returned my call.

On behalf of Chairman Chuck Grassley and the Senate Judiciary Committee, we invite Dr. Ford to testify at the continuation of the confirmation hearing of Judge Brett Kavanaugh on Monday, September 24, 2018 at 10:00 am in Hart 216. We can have this session open or closed to the public, depending on what Dr. Ford prefers.

Please contact me as soon as possible today, so we can make arrangements and discuss logistics. We appreciate your timely response.

Additionally, the Chairman intends to re-open the hearing and invite Professor Ford to testify. Later today we will notice the continuation of Judge Kavanaugh's hearing for next Monday, September 24, 2018. If Monday is inconvenient, we can attempt to move the hearing to this Thursday, September 20, 2018. More details to follow. As always feel free to contact me if you have any additional questions or concerns.

Ms. [REDACTED],

I wanted to flag the following email sent to Ms. Katz for your reference.

Ms. Katz,

Good afternoon, my name is [REDACTED] and I'm a counsel for U.S. Senate Committee on the Judiciary's Chairman Charles E. Grassley. The Chairman's staff would like to schedule a phone call tomorrow at a time convenient for you and your client. The standard practice of the Committee is to follow-up on any allegations with a phone call to relevant parties. The call will allow our staff to obtain additional information regarding the events described in Professor Ford's letter to the Ranking Member and the September 16, 2018 Washington Post article. Senator Feinstein's staff will be invited to participate in the call. Please let me know if this can be arranged and what times you and your client are available. If you have any additional questions please don't hesitate to ask. I can be reached via email or through my direct line at [REDACTED]
